

June 21-27, 2006

All's Well That Ends Well

A good time is guaranteed at this rollicking outdoor production of Shakespeare's comedy. With each new scene, the audience must race to keep up with the high-energy actors as the action moves from place to place around the picturesque Pool in Central Park. Taylore Mahogany Scott shines as the clever physician's daughter who cures the king and requests to marry a lord as her reward. Thu-Sun 7pm through Sun. Central Park, New York Classical Theatre, 103rd & Central Park West, 212-252-4531, free

ANGELA ASHMAN